Some screencaps: Quote: See also: Forums > MOViE > MOViE > The Zune Hacking Web site Q: Is it possible to affect a value for all objects of a class from within a class? Some background: I am making a "living" side-scroller and its a game of determining how long it takes you to get to the end of the level, however, i'm having some trouble with defining the end of the level (At the point of the game when the level is full/end). If you reach the end, the level will end and the game will end (I'm using an infinite loop, and check if it equals to level.getLength()). My question is, is it possible to update a value for all of the objects of a class from within a class? The code i am trying to change it so i change a value for all of the objects at once: for (Object ob : myArray) if (ob.getLength() > 10) System.out.println("End is here"); However, this doesn't seem to work. My arrays are populated by a random algorithm, and it saves the objects into a static Array (its a game, so myArray is never created or changed). Any help would be greatly appreciated, thank you! A: There are many ways to do it. One way is to pass the array to a function/method and add the items with you've collected to it. function change_stuff(List objs){ for (Object obj : objs) { if (objs.size() > 10) { // change objs } } } or something like this (as suggested by David in the comments) function change_stuff(List objs){ for (Object obj : objs) { if (objs.size() > 10) { obj.setStuff
